RATIONALE

Many of the issues that encourage people to seek the help of a professional counsellor arise from their primary relationships. In order to equip professional practitioners for appropriate interventions in the area of family and relationship counselling, a number of theories and perspectives that are relevant to family and relationship counselling need to be considered. In particular, it can be helpful to understand the family as a system and each person within the family as one part of the system.

The aim of this unit is, therefore, to ensure students have a sound knowledge and understanding of these theories and perspectives of family functioning through application to the experience of their own and other families, and through the development of specific skills and strategies for addressing relationship issues. The unit that follows in this focus area will address working with two people together, so the focus of this unit is to learn skills for working with one person on issues in the relationship system.

LEARNING DELIVERY PROCESS

This unit will contain one two-day intensive with synchronous online classes prior to the intensive. Please check the CHC timetable available on the CHC website for the times and dates of both the virtual classes and the intensive.

INTENSIVES

Students are expected to attend at least 80% of every session for Intensives; unless a legitimate reason for absence (such as traffic hold-ups, mechanical breakdown, illness, serious personal difficulties, major accident or other extenuating circumstances) has been approved by the course coordinator. Students who are unable to attend classes on a given day should phone the CHC Reception by 9.00am so that lecturers can be notified.

Some guidelines for intensives:

- 80% attendance – a roll will be taken before and after lunch each day.
- Classes go from 9.00am to 5.00pm everyday unless told otherwise by the lecturer.
- The intensives are very interactive, so please come prepared to contribute and you will get a lot more out of the intensives.

VIRTUAL CLASSES

Students are expected to attend at least 80% of online classes unless there is a legitimate reason for absence that has been approved by the course coordinator. Your lecturer should be informed as soon as possible regarding any absence.

Plus, CHC learning portal resources:

- Power points of lectures.
- Essential readings and other useful resources.
- Learning guides.
- Assessment guides.
- Discussion forums.
- News forum.
- Turnitin assessment and feedback tool.

IMPORTANT STUDENT INFORMATION

Whilst studying counselling, students are often required to record demonstrations of their counselling skills and practice. When submitting written transcripts, reports, reflections or other work, you must ensure that the “client” (this may be a fellow student or another person) has been de-identified. Initials or pseudonyms may be used instead.

Your “client” should be made aware when consenting to the recording of sessions, that the recording and/or transcripts may be viewed by academic staff and study support staff.

Students are required to only use initials of clients / peers / family / friends when they write their reflective papers / transcripts, etc.

STUDENT FEEDBACK

You will be given the opportunity to provide feedback on the unit throughout and at the of semester to enable us to continually improve the subject. Feedback from previous years has been vital in reshaping course and unit content, materials and assessments.

The Family and Relationship Counselling units as a set have been restructured based on student enrolment patterns. This unit now includes a skills component.
